Any terms and conditions set forth in the buyer's purchase order shall not materially alter terms and conditions set forth herein by Belsco, Inc.

PRICING POLICY

The pricing in this publication is current upon receipt. Every effort is made to keep our catalog error-free, but sometimes a mistake may slip by. In the event of any error, Belsco reserves the right to correct the error.

Belsco also offers quantity discounts when purchasing large numbers of a specific item. For a quantity price break, please ask your customer representative for the necessary quantity and its pricing.

IMPORTANT LEGAL NOTICE

Belsco cannot know or be aware of all the local, state, and federal restrictions regarding the products we sell. Therefore, Belsco does not warrant that a person may legally purchase, possess, or carry specific items offered in our catalogs. These products include, but are not limited to: chemical sprays/munitions, ammunition, knives, fusees/flares, crowd control devices, firearms, and other items. When you place an order with us, you warrant that you are a legal adult without legal disabilities which would prohibit you from ordering, owning, possessing, or transferring these items under applicable federal, state or local laws. You also warrant that you are in complete compliance with local, state, and federal laws. If ordering firearms and/or ammunition, you warrant that you are at least 21 years of age. Belsco also restricts the sale of items we classify as sensitive (badges, handcuffs, batons, body armor, clothing marked POLICE, SHERIFF, SWAT, DEPUTY, etc. and other items). It is Belsco's position that these type of items should not be allowed to surface within the general population and is therefore our policy to restrict the sale of these items to officers and agencies. Belsco can in no way guarantee that every order will follow these guidelines, but for those customers who purchase these sensitive items, he or she warrants that they are a bona-fide law enforcement officer.

Sizing Chart

1. Obtain your dimensions in full uniform with gun belt in place. Use a tailor's cloth tape measure. Measure several times for accuracy.
2. Measure the widest circumference around your stomach area. This must be a minimum of 2" above your duty belt. Round up to the nearest inch, no fractions. This measurement is critical for ballistic protection on your sides. Alter this dimension if you wish a gap in protection or overlapping side protection. This is the girth measurement.
3. In the seated position, measure the distance from the clavical depression to the top of your gun belt. Sit in a comfortable position as if riding a patrol unit. This is the front seated length. Repeat Standing this front standing.
4. In the standing position measure the back. Measure from the second vertebrae (it is the one that bulges out at the neck line) to the top of the gun belt. This is the back measurement.
5. Please contact us if you can't find your size in this chart or if you are a woman. This chart is only for common male sizes.
